George Emery, married Sarah J. (Peggy) Sperry;

Francis Azel, died in childhood.

Sidney Theophilus Epperson and Julia Eliza Van Wagonen Epperson were a handsome, charming couple of early Wasatch Valley days. They made the best possible time of their interesting lives. "Offie" was a very lovable person. He was athletic and an excellent wrestler. Eliza was tall, jolly and feminine. She loved dancing and was quite a noted step dancer, often winning prizes. She loved masquerade dances and often posed as a Spanish Dancer. After dances she fixed oyster suppers for the crowd. She loved to wear fluffy white dresses in the summer and loved jewelry, perfume and gloves. She played the concertina at times for dances and accompanied herself on the mandolin when she sang. Their three sons had an orchestra and the parents loved to travel with them. "Offie" would teach shy young boys how to dance.

"Offie's" father had a livery stable and he liked horses, used his own fine team for hauling logs and timber to Provo, Park City and Salt Lake City. He also hauled all the brick for College Hall in Provo. Early in life he was injured in a fall on the ice in such a way as to make walking difficult for him. He was the eldest of 10 boys and three girls.

His wife, Julia Eliza Van Wagonen was eldest of seven brothers and four sisters. Her parents were David Van Wagonen and Julia Ann Provost. They came to Utah in 1852 by ox team.

Sidney T. Epperson's father was the first presiding elder of Midway.

Julia Eliza's father was the first bishop of Midway.
